

Welcome to Sepia!

Whether you're looking for something familiar or unusual, grand or humble, our team is here to help you select the perfect bottle. Our wine list aims to highlight delicious wines that taste of the unique places they come from. We proudly support producers who are committed to sustainable agriculture, and we're excited to highlight artisanal practices, both ancient and new. Whatever you select, our sincere hope is that you and your guests can share a special moment over good conversation, food, and wine.

Three Centuries of Bhakta Armagnac

The house of Dupeyron Armagnac was founded in 1905. Housed in an 18th-century hotel, their cellar boasts bottlings from nearly every vintage dating back to 1868. Upon purchasing brandy from small independent producers and cooperatives, Dupeyron blends and ages their Armagnacs to peak maturity. When ready, the Armagnac is transferred from barrels to glass demi-johns, after which it is bottled to order.

Their current cellar master, Bernard Domecq, has been working for the house for fifty years, which has ensured consistency in the creation of their house style and the aging of different vintages. He is the 6th cellar master in the history of the company.

Raj Peter Bhakta, also founder of Whistle Pig Whiskey in Vermont, is the newest proprietor of this illustrious Armagnac producer and negotiant, having acquired the company in 2019.

Sepia is pleased to showcase this rare collection of artisanal Armagnacs. Whether you're a connoisseur of fine spirits or a curious neophyte, we invite you to open your senses and be transported through time by these exquisite spirits.

Presented in a flight of three: 1888, 1972, and 2001

Half ounce pours 275 | One ounce pours 400

1888 Notes of ripe pears and quince, with creamy, rich texture and a spicy, long-lasting finish.

1972 Features an intense, powerful attack, which drops off to reveal rich dried fruit notes and an exceptionally long finish.

2001 Big and bold, with clean tannins and pronounced spice notes. Easy drinking despite its high alcohol content.

Terroir in Champagne: A Question of Scale

How do the ideals of terroir apply to Champagne? As many producers move away from the old mores of consistency and brand recognition, we're beginning to see (and taste) some answers. Still, in a region well-known for blending, the individual producer must grapple with the idea of scale. Whether it's an expression of an entire village, a blend of a single site across multiple vintages, or even so simple as organic farming and native yeast fermentation, these producers provide a compelling look at current ideals of terroir in Champagne.

NV Etienne Calsac l'Echapée Belle 1er Cru Blanc de Blancs 115
Côte des Blancs

Etienne Calsac represents a new wave of exciting young producers. After converting his family's vineyards to organic viticulture, he soon began bottling wines under his own label, with an eye toward experimentation. L'Echapée Belle ("The Great Escape") is fermented using native yeasts, still a rarity in Champagne, and it expresses complex, ever-evolving flavors and aromas.

NV Suenen C+C Grand Cru Blanc de Blancs Extra Brut 181
Côte des Blancs

Since he took over his family's winery in 2009, Aurelien Suenen has become a name to watch in Champagne's Côte des Blancs. With vineyards in the Grand Cru villages of Chouilly, Cramant, and Oiry, his wines deftly express the pure chalk soils from which they come. His C+C bottling, a blend of wines from the villages of Cramant and Chouilly, is delicate and lacy, favoring precision over power, making it perfect for crudo and creamy cheeses.

NV Jerome Prévost / La Closerie Les Beguines Extra Brut 288
Vallée de la Marne

Jerome Prévost is part of a group of "Champagne Renegades" taking the French idea of terroir to the extreme. Jerome's bottlings are all exclusively single variety, in this case Meunier, and single vintage, all from a vineyard he inherited from his grandmother. The grapes are harvested riper than is typical for Champagne, which results in a vinous, extroverted style. With little intervention in both the vineyard and the cellar, these are wines for true terroir-heads.

Alheit Vineyards: South African Chenin Blanc and the Spirit of Exploration

After chasing harvests across the globe, Chris & Suzaan Alheit settled down to start a winery in their home country of South Africa. Adventurers at heart, they scoured the outskirts of the Western Cape to seek out unique vineyard sites.

What they found was a wealth of dry-farmed old bushvines, many abandoned or in disrepair, but bursting with potential. Over the course of the last decade, these vineyards have begun to come back into their own.

Through minimalistic winemaking, the Alheits showcase the history, beauty, and unique climate of South Africa. These delicious, balanced wines make the case for Chenin Blanc's ability to sing of the unique places it grows.

2019 Cartology, Western Cape 99
The study of maps, a subject near and dear to many wine lovers' hearts, gives Alheit's flagship wine its name. The grapes are sourced from sites across the Western Cape.

2020 Nautical Dawn, Stellenbosch 135
Named for the time of day when sailors can first see the horizon but still navigate by the stars, this 40-year-old vineyard faces False Bay, and tastes of the briny sea air.

2019 Magnetic North, Citrusdal Mountain 175
The Earth's north magnetic pole, where a compass would point straight down if it could, moves over 30 miles every year! This wine is a tribute to the quest for a mysterious, constantly shifting ideal.

A Selection of Mount Etna's Finest Vineyard Sites from Passopisciaro

In 2006, Andrea Franchetti purchased vineyards on Mount Etna, Sicily's active volcano, in hopes of producing a wine that would rival top Bordeaux estates.

But after working closely with local grape growers and winemakers, he discovered the region's real potential lied in a lesser-known local variety, Nerello Mascalese.

He quickly learned of its ability to express the terroir of the local contrade, or single vineyard sites, all featuring unique soils and aspects formed by constant volcanic activity!

2017 Contrada 'S' Sciaranuova 165

Literally "new lava flow," this site lies on gravelly volcanic rock from an Etna eruption in the 1600s. The wine is bright and herbaceous

2017 Contrada 'C' Chiappemacine 132

One of Passopisciaro's smaller sites, and the lowest in elevation, this site features limestone, and produces a rounder, softer wine

2017 Contrada 'P' Porcaria 179

Grown on lava rock that crumbles as you walk over it, Porcaria is one of Etna's most sought-after sites, and its wines show great depth.

2017 Contrada 'R' Rampante 168

One of Etna's highest elevation vineyard sites. The soils are predominantly sand and produce a heady, aromatic wine.
